

Mansion Monday: Escape the city at these retreats

Dreaming of a getaway? These three luxury homes near Columbia offer lake views, equestrian charm, and a sportsman's paradise.

February 28, 2025 • David Stringer

Hop on the UTV and explore ~2,800 acres.
Photo via Brown Land + Plantation Advisors

If Capital City life has you dreaming of wide open spaces, a home on Lake Murray or a farm outside Columbia might be calling your name. Whether you dream of morning horseback rides, sunsets on the lake, or a true sportsman's paradise, these luxury homes offer the perfect escape.

This custom bar was made from a Jarrett Bay sport fishing rig.

Photo via Brown Land + Plantation Advisors

Game On Farms

This 2,800-acre sporting retreat is a hunter's dream, featuring trophy whitetail deer, turkey, and quail hunting, plus stocked fishing ponds. The 18,000-sqft lodge is built for entertaining, with vaulted ceilings, a custom bar repurposed from a sport fishing boat, a gym, and a swimming pool. No conservation easements mean plenty of room for expansion, investment, or just enjoying the great outdoors.